WANTED

FIFTY MASON COUNTY FARMER BOYS, BETWEEN THE AGES OF 10
AND 18 YEARS TO JOIN OUR

MASON COUNTY HEIFER CLUB

Believing that the future progress and prosperity of Mason County depends upon the continuing development of its Agricultural interests and the business efficiency of our future Farmers, with the hope of being able to aid in those directions, we have decided to organize an Heifer Club for the Farmer Boys of Mason County.

ABOUT THE FIRST OF SEPTEMBER, 1917, we are going to purchase Fifty Grade Shorthorn Heifers, about eight months old and weighing about 600 pounds, which we will distribute among the first fifty Mason County Farmer Boys, between the ages of 10 and 18 years, that apply for and agree to care for same and that can execute a bankable note covering the cost of the Heifer; which note shall be payable in the fall of 1918.

The Heifers will be bought by expert cattlemen connected with the Extension Service of the State College of Agriculture and be distributed among the boys by lot. Each boy will be given the same chance to make good, and required to become a member of the Mason County Boys' Agricultural Club and to care for the Heifer under the directions of the County Agent; to have the Heifer bred to a pure bred Shorthorn Bull, this fall, and to have her and her offspring ready for public exhibition and sale in the fall of 1918.

You will not be expected to put up a cent of money now; but, you must properly care for the Heifer and pay for it later and all the increase and profit will be yours.

About $100 will be given away in prizes to the boys getting the best results, with their Heifers, at the exhibition to be held in the fall of 1918.

For full particulars call at Bank or see Mr. E. F. Boyd, Jr., County Agent, at once, as we want to close entries to the club by September 1st.

We are anxious to help Boys that are willing to work and learn.

23,000 PRISONERS

TAKEN FROM AUSTRIANS BY ITALIANS AS WELL AS 75 GUNS AND GREAT STORE OF AMMUNITION.

General Cadorna Reports New Gain
North of Gorizia—Demoralization of Austrian Troops Said to Be Due to Extraordinary Aeriel and Artillery Work of the Italians,
Which Has Been Disastrous.

Rome, August 26.—The Italians have made a further advance on the Isonzo front north of Gorizia, closely pursuing the Austrians, the war office announces. An Austrian counter attack on the Carso were repulsed. The number of prisoners have been increased more than 23,000 in addition to which a great amount of booty has been captured. The statement follows:

"The battle is beginning to reveal itself in its vastness. The action north of Gorizia from August 19 onward, may be epitomized as follows:

"The gallant troops of the second army after having thrown fourteen bridges across the Isonzo under the fire of the enemy, passed over the river on the night of August 18-19 and proceeded to attack the Bainsizza plateau.

Directing themselves decisively toward the Jelink-Vrh front they went around the three enemy defensive lines of Sommer, Kolbein and Dadoni which crossed there. Contemporaneously they attacked the same lines from the front and broke through in spite of the enemy's most stubborn defense. The consequence of this bold maneuver was the capture of Monta Santo.

"Our troops now are continuing their advance toward the eastern border of Bainsizza plateau hotly pursuing the enemy who is making the most violent resistance with large parties of machine gunners and with light artillery.

600 Officers Among Prisoners

"On the Carso yesterday the battle came to a standstill temporarily. Our small advances rectified the captured positions, which were consolidated and the enemy's attempted counter attack failed under our fire.

"The prisoners thus far number 600 officers and 23,000 men. We have captured 75 guns including two 305 millimeter mortars and many guns of medium calibre, a great number of horses, an airplane in perfect condition, many trench mortars and machine guns and all kinds of war material, including several motor tractors loaded with ammunition. The enormous difficulty of sending supplies to our troops across a zone in which there are no roads has been surmounted in part because of the large supply depots abandoned by the enemy during his retirement."

Numerous messages from the front received by ministers indicate that the Italians are making swift strides toward victory. When asked today for an expression of his opinion of the results thus far achieved in the battle, Lieutenant General Count Cadorna, commanding the Italian forces, smiling replied:

"We are doing nicely, thank you."

Lines of Communication Destroyed

The official communication on the result of the battle front shows that the demolition of the Austrian troops is in part due to the extraordinary aerial and artillery work of the Italians, which has destroyed not only the lines of communication, but has resulted in the burning of all the main food supply stations of the Austrians, for the last week have been starving at many points between Tolmino and the sea. This also accounts for the unusual number of prisoners and wounded.

The total loss of the Austrians from all causes are reckoned at nearly 100,000, the most important of which, in the Carso region, have not yet been officially announced. It is said that among the losses of the Austrians are many men of the famous Twelfth division, popularly known as the "Iron Division."

Monte Santo, the side of which has been scarred by many struggles in the last two years and which is known in both armies as the spot where many men have become heroes, was taken by the Second army corps under General Capello, who crossed the Isonzo at Anhovo and swerved around the base of Monte Santo, thereby cutting the Austrian line of retreat and completely isolating the mountain, which for so long has been a thorn in the side of the Italians.

McMILLAN PARTY ARRIVES SAFELY IN NOVA SCOTIA

Sydney, N. S., August 26.—Donald D. MacMillan's arctic exploration expedition arrived here tonight on the relief steamer Neptune, after four years spent in the polar regions.

MacMillan, who was one of Rear Admiral Peary's lieutenants on his successful dash for the North Pole, confirmed previous dispatches from him that there was no Crocker Land, such as had been reported by Peary.

Peary's mistake was due to a miscalculation so real that the MacMillan party had been received by its for four days he said.

The first objective of the MacMillan expedition, which was organized under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History and the American Geographical Society, with the cooperation of the University of Illinois, was to prove or disprove the existence of Peary's Crocker Land which has been a prolific source of dispute among geographers and scientists.

The next purpose of the expedition was to conduct a survey of the Greenland ice cap.

The fabled amazons of old time are coming to life and reality. That division of young Russian women in arms is no joke. They are killing and capturing as well as getting themselves killed. It is related that two German officers and 100 men taken by the Legion of Death were "utterly amazed and chagrined" when they found that their captors were women. Perhaps the woman-warriors enjoyed the mortification of their prizes as much as the capture itself.

The final end of a few lingering horse-cars in Manhattan gives opportunity to Philadelphia, long described by the metropolis as a country town, to hit back with the announcement of its newspapers that "New York is becoming a modern city."

Holand complains of being between the devil and the deep sea, but she can at least join in the fight against the devil. That would be more sensible than indulging in useless tears over the American embargo.

War Planes and Weapons on View At Kentucky's Great State Fair

Remarkable Features of Festal Week Secured by Energy and Enterprise of Hard Working Fair Officials

HON. MAT S. COHEN,
President Kentucky State Fair.

FOUNT T. KREMER,
Secretary Kentucky State Fair.

THE Kentucky State Fair belongs to the people, is of the people and for the people, but credit for this great achievement, which during a period of fourteen years has meant much to the commonwealth at large and which now bears vital relation to the welfare of the state, belongs in fullest measure to two officials, the commissioner of agriculture and the State Fair secretary.

Upon the shoulders of these two men falls the burden of responsibility for the gigantic undertaking of summing up in one festal week the agricultural and live stock industries, accomplishments and achievements of the entire state for the year, and both must be possessors of abilities beyond the ordinary measure of man.

Kremer an Efficient Secretary.
Fontaine T. Kremer, who was elected Kentucky State Fair secretary at the beginning of the present year upon the lamented death of former Secretary W. J. Gooch, while newly vested with secretarial title and dignities, is by no means a novice in secretarial experience, having been the "power behind" preceding Kentucky State Fair secretaries for the past eight years in the comparatively inconspicuous but immensely important post of active manager and director of finances for the entire vast institution.

To the lay mind the magnitude of this undertaking is impossible of conception, and only those concerned in the maelstrom of detail, infinitude of demands and urgency of action surging around the operative forces of the Fair can grasp the significance of this experience. As no man occupies a distinctive position without a training which has consciously or unconsciously fitted him for the duties of his post, so Mr. Kremer's entire career has been one of preparation for the brilliant and efficient handling of the task before him. In his early manhood he saw long service in important positions with the Louisville and Nashville railroad general offices and with the law and equity division of the Jefferson circuit court, thereby absorbing a grasp of detail, knowledge of law and familiarity with finance which grounded him well in knowledge vital to the handling of the Fair. In fact, it was this unusual all round ability, demonstrated year after year to the state board of agriculture, that prompted Mr. Kremer's election by the board as secretary to the Fair. To the agricultural element his selection was eminently satisfying from the fact that Mr. Kremer has been a practical farmer for the past twelve years, owning and at present residing upon and actively operating at Shively, Ky., one of the prettiest and most prosperous farms in the state.

Commissioner Cohen's Fine Record.
Commissioner of Agriculture Mat S. Cohen steps into the arena of State Fair accomplishment this year with the poise and assurance of a prior year's unequalled and universally applauded success in the handling of his colossal task and with the pre-eminent satisfaction of knowing that he has succeeded in adding to the fifteenth annual Kentucky State Fair, to be held in Louisville the week of Sept. 10, the most remarkable features ever associated with a State Fair. Spectacular among his accomplishments is the securing of the $10,000 stake for five gaited saddle horses and the unprecedented increase to $1,000 in premiums for county exhibits. Both these brilliant feats are in direct line with the appeal of the Washington government for a stimulation and increased activity in stock raising and food production and followed his several consultations at Washington with national bodies in regard to keying up the state to its highest point of output both in food as well as stock. From these meetings resulted the government's decision to get behind the State Fair with exhibits which will double its already mammoth list of attractions.

Of keenest interest to the public in general will doubtless be the governmental showing on manikins of the arms, uniforms and paraphernalia of all the nations now engaged in the great European war, together with war planes and weapons of destruction. Government officers say that the country has been combed for cavalry and artillery horses, and Commissioner Cohen's great plan and splendid achievement in securing for the State Fair the $10,000 stake, as announced, comes at a psychological time and is expected to have a saving stimulus on

BIG CANYONS OF SEQUOIA

Tehipite Valley and Kings River Canyon may be included in National Park—Greater Sequoia Project.

The demand for what is popularly known as "the Greater Sequoia National Park" is rapidly growing. Several of the larger mountain-climbing and outdoor clubs have become enthusiastic for it, and inquiries of the Department of the Interior concerning the magnificent country north and east of the present Sequoia National Park are increasing.

The fact that America possesses an area of unsurpassed scenic magnificence heretofore unsuspected by the public has become generally known only recently. Mount Whitney, the highest peak in the United States, has been only a name and an altitude. The Tehipite Valley and the Kings River Canyon have been scarcely known even as names. The Kern River Canyon is hardly known to California.

In contrast to the country wide scope of the commissioner's activities may be cited the fact that he has likewise brought the interests of the State Fair to an intensive point by placing each county agent on the advisory board of the Fair and thus securing the personal, individual and enthusiastic support of every Kentucky county as a unit.

Kremer an Efficient Secretary.

Fontaine T. Kremer, who was elected Kentucky State Fair secretary at the beginning of the present year upon the lamented death of former Secretary W. J. Each of these canyons, like the Yosemite Valley is overlooked by granite rocks of great height and marked personality. The Tehipite Dome guardian the Tehipite Valley on the north, is even loftier than El Capitan of the Yosemite; while Mount Harrington, directly opposite, rises nearly two thousand feet higher than Half Dome rises above the Yosemite Valley's eastern end. In the Kings River Canyon, North Dome and the Grand Sentinel are heights of commanding grandeur.

Tehipite Dome is a true Yosemite feature. It points its granite finger at the zenith. It is not so massive as El Capitan, and to that extent is less impressive; but it is superb. It has its own august personality, and, if it stood in the Yosemite, would share with those famous rocks the incom-

You will be assigned to a squad almost at once on entering the Army. At first, you may be shifted about considerably from one squad to another. But within a short time you and seven other men will be brought together as a permanent team. This means that you will work together, drill together, and sleep in the same tent or in the same section of the barracks. You will come to know the other men in the squad through and through and they will become equally well acquainted with you. Some of them will probably grow to be your close and life-long friends. On the other hand, there may be one or two men whom you dislike or do not respect.

The Squad Unit

In any case remember this: The eight men in a squad form a team in the same sense that a baseball nine or a football eleven is a team. Your squad is competing with all the other squads in your company. Whenever it shows itself especially well drilled, quick to learn new duties or careful in respect to cleanliness and general bearing, you pile up a few points in your favor. The umpires are the officers of your company; and you may be certain they are watching your squad every minute of the day—not watching for chances to criticize but watching hopefully for signs of soldierly spirit and intelligence.

It is your first duty to help your own squad make a good showing. Also it is to your own interest to do so. There is no more pleasure or reward for you in belonging to a poor squad than there is for a bill player in belonging to a losing team. Take pride in your squad and its good work. If you find you have one man among you who is lazy or childish, try to get him into a different attitude. Every squad has at least one weak link. The best way to handle him is to talk to him until you get him as much interested as you in making your squad rank as the best in the company.

Incidentally, your captain is not likely to overlook the best squad when ment. His most sacred memories cluster around the regimental battle flags.

Two regiments are joined in a brigade. Thus the brigade is built up by assembling individual soldiers into squads; squads into platoons; platoons into companies; companies into battalions; battalions into regiments; and regiments into brigades.

Brigades may in turn be joined to form divisions, divisions may be joined to form corps, and corps to form field armies. All of the army's divisions and separate detachments and departments taken together form the "big team"—that is to say, the United States Army. The make-up of the big team is treated in a later lesson.

The Platoon and the Company

Two, three, or four squads (usually three) may be joined in the next higher unit, which is called a "platoon." The platoon, however, is not so permanent as a squad, but is formed whenever there is need for it in drilling or on the firing line.

Next comes the company, which is made up at full strength of 150 men; this is about 18 squads or 6 platoons. This number is "war strength" in our old tables of organization; the first division now in France has 200 men per company; it is probable the strength may be 250 per Infantry company. However, these figures for the number of squads and of platoons are never definitely fixed. A company in the field is very seldom at full strength, and it may be convenient at any time to change the numbers of squads and platoons.

The company is a permanent "team" in the sense in which we have been using that word. Its members always live together, eat together, drill together, and fight together. All the officers and soldiers in a company become well acquainted. Each man's points of strength and of weakness are known. Outside of your own company you will probably know very few men, only those with whom you come into touch by accident or while you are serving on some special duty. This is something worth thinking about. You are probably going to live, eat, drill, and fight with the other men in your company so long as you remain in the Army. The sensible thing to do is to conduct yourself in such a way as to command the liking and respect of these men from the very beginning.

Four companies are joined in a "battalion." An important unit in the Army organization, but is not so clearly marked as either the company or the regiment.

Regiments, Brigades, and Divisions

The regiment consists of 3 battalions, making 12 companies. In addition, there are three special companies which do not belong to any of the battalions. These are the headquarters company, including the band and the color guard; the machine-gun company, to be referred to later; and the supply company, responsible for the regiment's food, ammunition, and other supplies. Counting in everyone, the regiment at full strength in our old tables of organization totals 2,058 officers and men. It will go more than this with the increase in strength of companies. 2,631 is the strength of in-fantry regiments in the first expeditionary division. The regiment is, of course, very seldom at full strength but is never allowed to remain below a minimum strength of about 1,400.

The regiment is the unit that especially arouses the soldiers' pride and loyalty. The most cherished traditions of the Army are made up of the splendid deeds of famous regiments. The soldier identifies himself throughout his life by naming his regiment. His love for the Army centers in his regiment. His most sacred memories cluster around the regi-

GOOD BACKS FOR BAD
Maysville Residents Are Learning How to Exchange the Old Back For a Stronger One.

Does your back ache, feel weak and painful?

Do you suffer headaches, languor and depression?

The kidneys may be calling for help.

Weak kidneys cannot do their work. Give them the help they need.

To cure a kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Use a tested and proven kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test.

Convincing proof of merit in Maysville endorsement:

Mrs. M. Holliday, 221 W. Second St., Maysville, says: "At times, my back has ached across my kidneys. My kidneys have been irregular in action and I have had dizzy spells and headaches. I have always used Doan's Kidney Pills, getting them at Wood & Son's Drug Store, and they have never failed to relieve these complaints."

Mrs. Holliday is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOANC KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mrs. Holliday had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60¢ all stores. Saving One at a Time

Secretary of Commerce Redfield has written a letter commanding a light keep in Chicago for his service in aiding to save a man who had fallen off a pier. The commendation is well merited, but one cannot help recalling in this connection that Secretary Redfield has never punished the officers whose negligence resulted in the overturning of the "Eastland" and the drowning of some 1200 men, women, and children.

Favoritism in small ways serves to indicate the administration's idea of equity under the government. James W. There are a lot of us who could make not only a fortune but a reputation as historians if we could have a special privilege in access to the secrets of the State Department.

He Never Heard of It

The Official Bulletin, published by George Creel, and paid for by the taxpayers of the country, contains an article on the subject of "Making a Good Soldier" and asserting that there are three basic qualities essential—"Loyalty, Obedience and Physical Fitness." It seems rather strange that "intelligence" was not included. Intelligence may come after physical fitness but it surely has some place in the essentials of a good soldier in modern warfare.

Bread on the Waters

On August 14 1917, there was printed in the Congressional Record a statement showing the largely increased exports of American cotton to Holland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Spain since the war began, and the comment was made that "it would be a deplorable condition to find out several months hence that our own cotton is being used to manufacture explosives in Germany with which to

NATIONAL CHAMBER

To Hold War Convention—Great Meeting of Business Men To Be Called For Week of September 17—Big Discussions Are Scheduled.

An invitation has been received by the Maysville Chamber of Commerce to have representation at a great war convention to be held the week of September 17 to discuss the business man's part in the war, and to show to the world that American business recognizes its duty and stands solidly behind the Government. This meeting has just been called by the National Chamber and the place of meeting will be announced later.

Topic on Program

Among the topics to be discussed along the lines of the services which business may perform in winning the war will be what may be done to control prices, how priority may be most quickly and effectively established, how greater efficiency in land and water transportation may be developed, how we may best provide for and protect our forces on land and sea and those dependent upon them at home, and what steps may be taken for better education of the nation on the issues at stake in the war.

After the War Preparations

Of particular interest will be the readjustment after the war for which business must prepare. This will include the question as to what will be the course of prices on raw materials and finished products after the war, how we shall plan for replacing our men in industry after they return from the war, and what new responsibilities in international relations may be expected after the war.

"The nation's business today is war," declares R. Goodwyn Rhett, President of the National Chamber of Commerce, "and every business man, firm and corporation must now subordinate individual interests to the common cause. They are ready to do all that is needed in directed as to what to do. The results of this meeting which has been called by our Executive Committee which has been in session almost continuously for the past three months will show business the way, and inform the public as well.

Up to the United States

"Victory in the great struggle in which we are engaged depends largely on the power, intelligence and speed of the industry of the United States, upon our ability to produce faster and better than ever before, the things necessary to efficient welfare. This convention of American business men should show, not to our people alone, but to the whole world in what spirit and with what determination business faces the task ahead of us. Out of common council we hope to see what we may do to develop still greater efficiency and render greater service in carrying the war to a quick and successful conclusion."

FT. THOMAS MADE A RECRUIT DEPOT—NEW MEN, INCLUDING SELECTIVES, TO BE SUPPLIED FROM POST.

Washington, August 25—Colonel Lea Feibiger, of the regular army, has been detailed for recruiting service at Ft. Thomas, Ky.

Ft. Thomas, Ky., is designated as a recruit depot, and turned over to the Adjutant General of the army, in orders issued today, forecasting the organization of a general recruit depot selective draft law.

Through this service new men will be sent into the regular and national guard regiments, including both volunteers and men mobilized under the selective draft law.

Wounded soldiers who shall have recovered sufficiently to return to the front also will be sent forward through the general depot. Because of the time required to reach France it is understood a general recruit depot will be established in Europe which will be fed from the depot here, and in turn supply men to regiments at the front as they are needed to fill the gaps.

The preliminary training of recruits will be carried on at the depots, and the men coming back from the hospitals will receive the physical exercise necessary to harden them for active duty.

JUSTICE TO WIFE AND BABE

Demands Exemption For Husband, Wilson Says—Burden Must Not Fall on Head of Family If He Is Sole Provider, is Executive Ruling—Crowder Then Issues a Bulletin on Draft.

Washington, August 25—President Wilson today ruled that wives of men selected in the draft should not because they had employment before marriage, be thrown upon their own resources or upon the charity of their own or their husband's parents for support.

He ordered that all men upon whose labors their wives or children depend entirely for support should be exempted. His action was taken in response to nation-wide protests against the interpretation placed on the draft law by Provost Marshal General's office that a woman whose parents or whose husband's parents were able and willing to support her and her children, or who was qualified to gain her own support, should be thrown upon those resources and her husband sent to war.

The President's orders were contained in a letter to Secretary of War Baker. Immediately upon their receipt the Secretary got into touch with Provost Marshal General Crowder and two conferences followed.

Crowder Explains Ruling

After the second, General Crowder issued the following bulletin to local boards:

"A feeling has been expressed that in passing on claims for discharge on the ground of dependents local boards ought in no case to refuse a discharge to a married man or to the head of a family. The law under which local boards act requires that before such a discharge can be granted dependency as well as relationship must be established. The matter having been presented to the President, the following are his orders thereto:

"We ought as far as practicable to raise this new national army without creating the hardships necessarily entailed when the head of a family is taken, and I hope that for the most part those accepted in the first call would be found to be men who had not yet assumed such relations.

"The selective service law makes the fact of dependents, rather than the fact of marriage, the basis for exemption, and there are, undoubtedly, many cases within the age limit fixed by law, of men who are married and yet whose accumulations or other economic surroundings are such that no dependency of the wife exists in fact.

Speed Is Urged In Forming New Conscription Boards

Washington, D. C., August 24—Telegrams were sent out from the office of the provost marshal general and state conscription boards to hurry up the work of completing the first national army. Provost Marshal General Crowder was slightly disappointed because he was not able to announce at the beginning of this week that the new army of 687,000 men had been obtained. However, according to the provost marshal general, there is no occasion for discouragement. Indeed, the provost marshal general is distinctly pleased with the way the work of getting this new army together has progressed.

After General Crowder's assistants had looked over the reports from all sections of the country today, they estimated that 500,000 men are now ready to proceed to the 16 cantonments. Counting the men who have been drafted and who have passed the physical examination and who have not claimed exemption, and the men who have passed the physical examination and have asked for exemption, approximately 1,000,000 men are now available. During the present week the important problem will return to the question of the work of getting this new army together has progressed.
